From the Desk of your Friendly Neighborhood CEO

We know we are a bit behind on our newsletter this month – it has been a whirlwind around here. This week we had a two-day site visit with a major funder. Part of this site visit involved brief interviews with all the funded staff. For us, that is quite a few of our direct service team members. We gathered into a virtual room on Tuesday. There were staff from Counseling, Housing, and Court Advocacy there to share about their work. One by one, the site visitor asked them questions about their typical day, what trending needs they saw from their clients, and what barriers there were to being able to meet client needs.

For just over 2 hours I sat back, along with our Chief Program Officer, and listened to them. As a leader, I can tell you, the best feeling is witnessing your staff being amazing. One by one, they talked about their work, how they help clients, how they troubleshoot barriers and how they work across teams. They glowed with passion and knowledge.

Our site visitor was extremely impressed by their collaborative nature and expertise.

I am filled with pride and confidence.

Our team has been through a lot over these past three years. And here they are, just as dedicated as ever, never losing sight of our mission and centering our clients. This particular set of staff were also all women. Which is fitting for this month as Women's History Month.

I know there are plenty of famous women throughout history to remember and honor this month. But for me, I honor the women of Anew who make history every day in life changing ways.

Happy Women's History Month!

MARCH 2022

WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH

CELEBRATE THE WOMEN IN YOUR LIFE

Do you know why we celebrate Women's History Month?

As per history.com, "Women's History Month is a dedicated month to reflect on the often-overlooked contributions of women to United States history. From Abigail Adams to Susan B. Anthony, Sojourner Truth to Rosa Parks, the timeline of women's history milestones stretches back to the founding of the United States.

The actual celebration of Women's History Month grew out of a weeklong celebration of women's contributions to culture, history and society organized by the school district of Sonoma, California, in 1978. Presentations were given at dozens of schools, hundreds of students participated in a "Real Woman" essay contest and a parade was held in downtown Santa Rosa.

A few years later, the idea caught on within communities, school districts and organizations across the country. In 1980, President Jimmy Carter issued the first presidential proclamation declaring the week of March 8 as National Women's History Week. The U.S. Congress followed suit the next year, passing a resolution establishing a national celebration. Six years later, the National Women's History Project successfully petitioned Congress to expand the event to the entire month of March."
